

Day of the Jackal

Lehman Trikes scored again with the latest addition to their Suzuki-based line of three-wheel conversions. The Jackal, derived from a C-90 Boulevard, boasts the luxurious trunk capacity of the classic Lehman Renegade conversion paired with Suzuki's 1500cc metric cruiser to create a powerful, sleek, street predator. A fairing custom-designed for this trike is already available for the Jackal, making it an immediate top choice among all the desirable contenders in the three-wheeled market. Don't think that Lehman's choices end at Suzuki, though; they also have conversions based on Honda's Gold Wing, and a number of Harley-Davidson models. For more information on the Jackal and all of the other models available from Lehman Trikes, check out their website at www.lehmantrikes.com.